

NEWPORT.

BY CRANSTON & NORMAN
144 THAMES STREET.

TUESDAY MORNING, APRIL 1, 1855.

We should think it must be very humiliating to a man who, in an unguarded moment, or influenced by some selfish motive, or deceived by some inexcusable cause, joined the Know Nothing in this city, when they reflect upon their conduct, and the character of the company they find themselves in. Of course they entered the Order and obligated themselves to affiliate with those who were already initiated into the faith, without knowing who their brethren were, or what would be required of them. By that act they pledged their honor to support the nominees, whoever they might be, without any regard to their antecedents, or consideration as to their qualifications for the offices which they aspired to. Some most ridiculous selections have been made, both for the Assembly and the city government; men, very worthy in themselves, have been elected to responsible and important offices, who have not the slightest qualification for them, and who never could possibly have been elected by either of the political parties, at any other time, or by any other means except the midnight and secret organization of Know Nothings. And yet, sensible men have gone to the polls, as if impelled by some uncontrollable power, and voted for such men as we have upon our list, well knowing that they were not in the constant degree qualified to discharge the important trust then being confided to them. Notwithstanding all this, these same men will talk about the danger of allowing ignorant Irishmen and other foreigners the privilege of voting, because they do not understand the nature of our government! What ridiculous nonsense! Why, we should much prefer to rely upon the discretion of a regiment of wild Irishmen, fresh from the lugs of the green isle, in selecting and voting for rulers and law makers, than in the judgment of these Know Nothings as recently manifested, not only in Rhode Island, but in Massachusetts, and wherever they have obtained the power. Their career in Massachusetts has been disgraceful in the extreme, and has made a blot upon the political history of that State which will not soon be effaced; fortunate will it be for Rhode Island, if she escapes with any less stigma upon her character.

By the pledge of honor which is given by all who join this secret political Order, it is expected and required that they will vote for all the candidates who are nominated for office; and if a better class of men, like those whom we have spoken of, feel that they cannot conscientiously vote for a nominee, and consequently give their vote to another, they are threatened, by ignorant hirelings and aspiring demagogues, who never could have received the office of S. avenger from the party with which they have heretofore pretended to act, with expulsion from the order, and a transmission of their names to all the secret Councils of the State. A grand legislative Council is ordered for the purpose of inflicting discipline upon such men. The Know Nothings, that is the viri-pollers among them, claim that purity of purpose is the predominating virtue of their organization; and that the Order has been established because the Whig and Democratic parties had become so corrupt, that a great political revolution was necessary! Well, the passion for humbugs and delusions never will cease; in the Order in this city are many of the most variable old party hacks that ever existed. All the decent portion of the Order are already ashamed to acknowledge their connection with it, and the sneaks and scum look wise and say that they know nothing about the matter; in plain English, whenever questioned about it, instead of declining in a manly way to reply, they do liberally and miserably lie, time and time again. And yet these are the men whose pledges of honor are to save this great Republic from the avocations of grasping foreigner!!! Shame of the immortal Washington, shrink from the vision of America forever! Spirit of the noble, generous and gallant Lafayette, pause not over the degenerate sons of noble sires who stood shoulder to shoulder with thee in the American Revolution! Let the memory of Pulaski be forgotten, for the lapse of a few years has washed from our soil the noble blood which he shed in defence of our liberty!

The patriotic, generous and intelligent Know Nothings, with a liberality which is characteristic of their hearts, and which reflects honor upon their nature, are entirely willing that any and all foreigners shall acquire property, own real estate, assist in adding wealth to the nation, pay taxes, and in time of war, help fight our battles and defend our flag with their blood, but they must not have a voice in the choice of our rulers! Shame upon such a sneaking and disgraceful spirit.

We shall continue these remarks to-morrow.

Matt. J. Ward, who shot the schoolmaster Butler, is the lion of the streets at New Orleans. He sports a span of bay horses beautifully caparisoned, and a splendid carriage, and upon the box sit two colored gentlemen, with blue suits, white gloves, black hats, a green band around, and a small feather upon the upper edge. A correspondent of the Chicago Tribune adds:—"Today I saw in the carriage the once gay and fascinating belle of Kentucky, Miss Sallie Ward, and afterwards Mrs. Lawrence, of Boston—now Mrs. Dr. Hunt. She is still beautiful, and looks as lovely as a queen."

"The death of an old man's wife" says Lamarine, "is like cutting down an ancient oak that has long shaded the family mansion. Henceforth the glare of the world with its care and vicissitudes, falls upon the old widower's heart, and there is nothing to break their force, or shield him from the full weight of misfortune. It is as if his right hand was broken, and every movement that he made brought him to the ground. His eyes are dim and glassy, and when the film of death falls over him, he misses those accustomed tones which might have smoothed his passage to the grave."

The steamer Perry will stop at East Greenwich, going and returning, on Thursday, for the accommodation of those who wish to attend the Quarterly meeting of Friends. See advertisement.

Hon. M. Fillmore.—We learn that the ex-President is about visiting Europe; and that his residence in our city has been rented to the Rev. Dr. Thompson. [Bulldog Democracy.]

The Liquor Law in Maine has been tightened by some very stringent amendments. It is interpreted by some of the papers as prohibiting an expressman from delivering liquor, when purchased legally in other States, and even forbidding a traveler, under pain of fine and imprisonment, from carrying a flask of liquor in his baggage.

Give employment to the poor man whenever you have an opportunity. By so doing you will often save a fellow being from want—the pang of returning without bread, to his house. You will encourage him to be honest and industrious—add to the comfort of his family—receive his grateful thanks, and acquire by his labor the full value of the pittance thus bestowed upon him.

A memorial is before the Legislature of North Carolina praying for a law that husbands and wives (slaves) should not be separated, and that children under twelve or fourteen years of age shall not leave their parents.

Brigham Young has published a manifesto, in which he indicates that Mormon policy in Utah will not yield to the United States, or any other authority. The Mormon Legion and the United States troops have been near a collision.

WHAT IS VIRTUE.—A student put this question to the late Archibald Alexander. His simple and admirable reply was: "Virtue consists in doing our duty, in the several relations that we sustain in respect to ourselves, to our fellow-men, to God, as known from reason, conscience, and revelation."

A New Rendering of Richard.—Mr. Buchanan was playing Richard to Mr. Hamblin's Richmond, at St. Louis, lately, when the latter took offence in the combat scene, alleging that Mr. Buchanan hit on the hand. He left the stage, and Richard had not a chance to die according to the text. Both parties came forward and made explanation, each charging the fault on the other, and it was with considerable difficulty that they could be prevented from rehearsing the scene with more effect behind the curtain.

A Ghost in Love.—A farmer who had lately become a widower was aroused at midnight by the loud barking of his dog. On going to it the animal displayed extreme terror, whereupon the farmer took his gun and proceeded to an inspection. All at once he saw a phantom clothed in a white sheet rise behind the hedge the farmer turned deadly pale and his limbs shook with dismay. "If however, contrived to ejaculate, 'If you come from God, speak, if from the devil vanish!' 'Wretch!' exclaimed the phantom, 'I am your deceased wife come from the grave to warn you, not to marry Maria A., to whom you are making love. The only woman to succeed me is Henrietta B.—Marry her, or persecution and eternal torment shall be your doom!' This strange address from the goblin, instead of dismay, the farmer, restored his courage. He accordingly rushed on the ghostly visitor, and, snipping off its sheet, discovered the fair Henrietta B. herself, looking extremely foolish. It is said that the farmer, admiring the girl's trick, has had the hands published for his marriage with her.—Gatesend Observer, Eng.

General Council,
Saturday evening.

BROTHER CRANSTON:—

We had considerable of a time this evening; a brother of the Second Ward moved that a committee of two from each Council be appointed to endeavor to ascertain who the traitors are, and to watch over the fraternity in future, and if possible, to keep them straight; a brother from the third ward proposed to call it the Thermometer Committee; a brother expressed the opinion that it was not best to take an account of stock at present. Some apocryphal speeches were made, and finally the proposition to appoint the Committee was voted down. This I regard as an ill omen, as far as the welfare of the Order is concerned.—The bloody Fourth meets on Monday evening, and music may be anticipated, as an effort will be made to attend to the alleged treachery of certain brothers. You shall hear from me again very soon.

Yours fraternally,

SAM.

Council Chamber,
Fourth Ward,
Monday evening.

BROTHER CRANSTON:—

We had rather an interesting meeting this evening, but not as rough as we was anticipated, because the faithful are rather timid. Brother William Gardner withdrew from the Order, and received an honorable discharge. Brother Carr, the President, then stated that if there were any others who desired to withdraw, they had better make application now, as charges would be preferred against a number of the brothers at the next meeting, unless certain ones withdrew. There were no more applications, the bloody ones of the Fourth being determined not to be threatened; we must take care, or the rebels will overpower us.

Yours fraternally,

SAM.

Thomaa Wigglesworth, one of the oldest and most worthy and respectable merchants of Boston, died on Saturday. His property is estimated at more than $2,000,000.
